When you sell things to the Quartermaster, the Quartermaster will pay you the value shown in the Low row. Similarly, when you buy things from the Quartermaster you will pay the amount shown in the High row. The Quartermaster is always an option for all characters to use when they need to conduct business. However, you are encouraged to seek out other characters first as you are more likely to get a better price from them than from the Quartermaster. For characters with the Appraise skill, the Quartermaster will buy items using the prices, or price ranges, listed in the Appraise row.
